Germany Charges France Seeking Chance To Seize Spanish Morocco

(International News Service)

French charges of a German military invasion of Spanish Morocco in contravention of international treaties met with denials from Spanish rebel leader today as well as skepticism in London and elsewhere.

The British foreign office took the view the charges were greatly exaggerated, while in Berlin the government professed indignation and hinted at a diplomatic demarche against France as a "disturber of European peace."

Britain Halts Volunteers

Meanwhile, Great Britain's move in clamping down a unilateral ban on enlistment of British volunteers in Spain was followed by indications France would immediately follow suit. The move was hailed in Italy as a gallant gesture, but there was no sign Rome and Berlin would

Moroccan War, Aim Of France, Is Charge Coming From Germany

By PIERRE J. HUSS

International News Service Staff Correspondent

BERLIN, Jan. 11.—While Chancellor Hitler pressed a series of conferences with his aides over the Franco-German crisis in Morocco, German indignation against France flamed high today as circles close to the government accused France of seeking a Moroccan war.

Dr. Walther Schmitt, foreign editor of the newspaper Voelkischer Beobachter—Hitler's own organ—and reputedly a close advisor of the chancellor on foreign affairs, published on the front page of today's editions a militant editorial under the blaring headlines:

"Paris wants war in Morocco."

With Hitler's approval it was understood the editorial was published after consultation with Hitler, who returned from his Bavarian Alpine retreat to the capital.

"Immense consequences will result for Europe from such action," said the editorial. "Germany warns in the last hour and is determined

"Won't Give Up" Says Father Of Abducted Boy—Hope To Contact Kidnapers

By RALPH B. JORDAN

TACOMA, Wash., Jan. 11.—Weary and wracked with grief, the parents of Charles Mattson today considered a final plea to the blackbearded desperado who carried their 10-year-old son into the night and left only a note demanding $25,000 ransom.

As the tragic mystery entered its third week, Dr. William W. Mattson, well known Tacoma surgeon, planned an appeal he hoped would break the kidnaper's silence and perhaps lead to the release of his son—if the latter still lives.

"We've done about everything anyone could do," said the surgeon. "But we won't give up yet. There must be some means of persuading this man to take the ransom and let us have Charles."

The boy's mother would only say: "We want our boy back so very much."

Apprehension mounted rapidly among law enforcement agents working on the case that the fate of Charles is hidden under the deep snows which blanket the mountains of Washington, or the ice crust of far flung Puget Sound.

The Mattsons, it was believed, would rely for their final plea on the personal column of a Seattle afternoon newspaper in which they have been addressing the kidnaper as directed in his ransom note.

Their "Mable-Ann" ads probably unparalleled in American crime annals.

France Moves To Halt Enrollment Of 'Volunteers'

THREE-POINT LAW TO BE CONSIDERED

Conciliatory Reply Is Received From Spanish Rebel Leaders On Morocco

By LINDESEY PARROTT

PARIS, Jan. 11.—Formal measures to halt enrollment of French volunteers in the Spanish civil war were launched by the government today coincident with a conciliatory reply from Spanish rebel leaders regarding alleged foreign military activity in Spanish Morocco.

The legislative committee of the chamber of deputies on Wednesday will consider a three-point law providing jail terms, fines and loss of citizenship for recruiting activities on French soil.

To Halt Departures. Acting in concert with Great Britain, the ministry of the interior ordered immediate temporary measures against departure of volunteers for Spain.

Tension was alleviated somewhat with receipt from General Francisco Franco, Spanish rebel leader, of a favorable reply to the protest over alleged presence of German troops in Morocco.

The reply came to Paris by way of Tetuan, in Spanish Morocco, where it had been delivered by C. J. Serres.

President's Cabinet May Remain Intact

By GEORGE DURNO

International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11.—President Roosevelt is expected to go into his second administration with his present cabinet intact.

Despite rumors of from one to four resignations, sources close to the white house predicted today the same official family will be functioning after inauguration day.

This includes Harry Woodring who was given a "temporary" appointment as secretary of war after George H. Dern died.

Postmaster General James A. Farley may retire at a later date if he receives a sufficiently attractive offer from private business but friends say his feet will be shodded under the cabinet table for at least several more months.

Rather than debating a cabinet shake-up, the president today completed a message to congress proposing a "comprehensive overhauling" and reorganization of existing administrative machinery. Reports persisted Mr. Roosevelt would suggest creation of two new cabinet units, a department of public welfare and a department of public works.

President Asks For W.P.A. Funds

Seeks Deficiency Appropriation Of $790,000,000 To Last To June 30

BLAMES DROUGHT FOR ADDED NEED

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11.—President Roosevelt today asked congress for a deficiency appropriation of $790,000,000 to carry WPA and related projects through from Feb. 1 to June 30.

In a letter to Speaker Bankhead the president estimated that 2,580,000 unemployed would have to be taken care of during the winter months by WPA. He pointed out that this was a net reduction of more than 800,000 since last March.

Last year's drought was the unforeseen factor which upset the administration's relief calculations, the president reported.

In general, the president's letter was optimistic. He said that at the beginning of this winter at least 6,000,000 more workers were employed in non-agricultural jobs than in March, 1933—one million of which having found jobs with private industry during the past year.

He predicted that further reductions would be made this spring and summer in relief rolls.

Still Negotiating For New Executive

Report Safe Crackers Secure Loot Of $2,500

City detectives today were searching for clues in the hope of establishing the identity of safe-crackers who, some time late last night or early this morning, broke into the safe of Al Scarazzo, coal dealer and beer distributor of South Mill street and escaped, according to his report, with approximately $2,500.

The robbery was discovered about 6:30 a. m. today when William Bscillo, an employee, reported for work. He called Mr. Scarazzo, who in turn notified police. Chief of Detectives Ray Showalter and Detective John Young went to the place and found several drills. They also hoped to find fingerprints.

According to the detectives, the safe-crackers pried open a window on the side of the building then went to the office. They knocked through the door and opened the door of the safe. They removed several drawers in which the money was kept.

The money was insured only for $1,000, according to Scarazzo. The time of the robbery was fixed by the detectives as occurring late last night or early this morning because Mr. Scarazzo was at his business place at one p. m. yesterday, according to the detectives.

It is believed that the robbery was committed by skilled safe-crackers who knew that the receipts from Saturday's business would be heavy

Non-Combatants Fleeing Madrid On Defense Order

Brief Lull In Attack By Rebels And Inhabitants Evacuate City

EXPECT RENEWAL OF REBEL DRIVE

Center Of Action In Spanish War Is Swinging To Guadalupe Front

By THOMAS A. LOAYZA

International News Service Staff Correspondent

MADRID, Jan. 11.—While non-combatant civilians streamed out of Madrid in search of safety from rebel shells and bombs, the beleaguered capital enjoyed a brief lull in battle today while the center of action swung to the Guadalupe front.

The respite came to Madrid after a week of fierce fighting just to the west, but loyalist outposts reported the lull would be temporary and that they expected the insurgent attack would be renewed shortly.

Government officials declared loyalist troops had repulsed a rebel assault on the Guadalupe sector, but in insurgent officials at Avila broadcast announcements they were "completely satisfied" with progress of the past week's campaign.

They hailed it as a "decisive success" and claimed to have advanced over an area 12 miles wide and 16 miles deep.

A rebel communique at Salamanca further stated a successful insurgent attack was launched at Guadalupe over the week-end and prisoners were claimed to have been taken by the rebels from the leftist "Dimitrov battalion."

Plan New Offensive.

It was learned that rebels are steadily concentrating at various towns near Malaga in preparation for a new offensive against the loyalist Malaga positions, which are strongly fortified.

Compulsory evacuation of Madrid by non-fighters got underway after being ordered by the defense junta.

COLD WAVE HALTS FLOODS

Rising Rivers Caused Fear

Believe Danger At Pittsburgh Is Averted By Change In Weather

JOHNSTOWN ALSO HAS HIGH WATER

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 11.—Rapidly rising waters in Western Pennsylvania caused "flood scares" at Pittsburgh and Johnstown but a cold wave was believed to have mitigated possibility of serious danger in both sections today.

In Pittsburgh, river observers predicted a crest of 23 feet, two feet below flood stage, at the "point" where the Monongahela and Allegheny join.

At Johnstown water seeped into the cellars of several downtown business places as the flood stage in Stony Creek was being approached.

At midnight in Pittsburgh the stage at the point was about 20.2 feet. The rise then was at the rate of three-tenths of a foot an hour and the water was reported coming "strong." Both the Monongahela and Allegheny were then rising at about the same rate.

Government forecaster Robert Tross predicted at Johnstown Stony Creek would reach a peak of 15 feet before beginning to subside, the flood level is considered 12 feet but the cessation of rain and the colder temperature were believed sufficient to eliminate danger of any serious flood.

Pittsburgh, Jan. 11.—Falling headwaters will spare Western Pennsylvania a repetition of the disastrous St. Patrick Day floods of last year, U. S. weather forecaster W. S. Brotzman gave assurance here today.

Pittsburgh rivers, the Allegheny and Monongahela which join at the "point" here to form the Ohio, reached 24 feet this morning and rose slowly to a crest of 24 1/2 feet or higher which was expected about 3 p. m. Flood stage is set 25 feet but low-lying sections were expected to suffer damage.

MOROCCAN WAR AIM OF FRANCE, IS CHARGE MADE BY GERMANY

to prevent under all circumstances this game from being carried out at her expense.

"Agitation of the Paris press obviously has the purpose of preparing for military intervention by France in Spanish Morocco. France considers the moment opportune to grab Spanish Morocco for herself."

Hitler Uneasy

Meanwhile Hitler, reported somewhat uneasy over the tone of the Paris press and the French accusations regarding German activities in Morocco, conferred at length with his lieutenants.

Britain's new proposals for a ban on foreign volunteers in Spain were made known to Hitler as soon as he reached Berlin and Hitler planned to spend virtually the entire day considering them with Foreign Minister Baron Constantin Von Neurath.

The first Nazi reaction to the British suggestions was deep skepticism, although the Reich professed to welcome Britain's ban on British volunteers.

But, angered by the French charges, Nazi circles declared: "If volunteers in Spain really are to be banned, the first thing is to close the French frontier at the Pyrenees."

Hope Rebels Take Madrid

It was indicated Germany will be willing to ban her volunteers in Spain if France and all other powers take effective similar action. But Germany will do nothing immediately, informed circles said, and first must have plenty of time to examine all proposals and measures.

Meanwhile it is privately hoped in Berlin that the Spanish rebels will capture Madrid, thus making Europe forget about volunteers.

A Paris dispatch published by the German official news agency caused a stir in diplomatic quarters here. It said:

"It is reported with all reliability in right wing circles in Paris that secret plans have been worked out for some time by the French general staff for annexation of Spanish Morocco."

nals, have reflected the changing tempo of the case—hope, frustration, disappointment and finally deep fear.

The series, which started two days after the boy disappeared, indicated an early belief of the parents they were in contact with the abductor. Later ads led to the opinion by observers the desperado had broken off contact and retired in ominous silence. Then the column pictured efforts of hi-jackers to step in and pick up the ransom and the uncertainty of the Mattson that contact ever had been made with the real abductor.

Demand Proof Son Is Alive

And then came the ad in the first edition of the paper to which in the final edition, Dr. Mattson added this significant and tragic line—"In view of lapse of time, also desire new proof my son is alive and well."

Investigators feared death, either from illness or injuries, may have ended the negotiations. The boy was suffering a severe cold and was lightly clad when he disappeared into weather which was freezing at that time, but which developed into record severity for this part of the country.

The usual crop of rumors were afloat today. There was one that officers near Olympia, Wash., found an abandoned camp site which at first they believed might be a clue in the kidnapping, but later ascertained the camp had been occupied by a burglar they have in jail.

G-men, state highway patrolmen and sheriff's posses continued active, but declared they had not discarded their voluntary truce with the abductor—their agreement with Dr. Mattson to keep "hands off" the desperado until he releases his victim.

The officers said they were intent now on driving ambitious hi-jackers out of the case and meant to run down writers of all notes obviously faked, but would make no move to take the real kidnaper—yet.

cooperate unless Soviet Russia first agrees to do likewise.

In this connection, Moscow was learned to be framing a note to Britain refusing to join in a "one-sided agreement" regarding volunteers and insisting upon establishment of an effective control system, possibly in the form of an international blockade, as the first necessary step.

Strikes At France

Berlin, Jan. 11.—Striking vigorously back at France through the medium of the Nazi press, Germany tonight accused the French of concentrating land and sea forces for ultimate seizure of Spanish Morocco on the allegedly false pretext that German troops have invaded the African protectorate.

Having already named France as "disturber of European peace," inspired newspapers went further by charging France is seeking to shift the balance of power in the Mediterranean.

Claim Reports Exaggerated

London, Jan. 11.—French reports regarding German activities in Morocco are "grossly and deliberately exaggerated," a high government official told International News Service today as Britain waited for replies from Germany, Italy, France, Russia and Portugal on the British request for banning further foreign volunteers in Spain.

The British request was sent to the five powers in the form of a note to be delivered by the British envoys in each country, and almost as soon as this move was announced it was learned France has already agreed in principle to the London proposal.

France, it was stated, will shortly take steps which will put her in line with Britain, and the Paris government will issue a formal decree banning the flow of French volunteers to Spain.

In their regular press conference today, foreign office officials continued to deprecate gravity of the Moroccan situation. While all available information indicates a certain amount of German activity in Spanish Morocco, it does not give cause for undue alarm and there is no confirmation that Nazi troops have been landed.

The British daily denied knowledge of any French plans to occupy Spanish Morocco. Consular authorities there have been instructed to keep a close watch on the situation, however.

The order stated it did not concern men aged between 20 and 45 years but added those who refused to obey the order would be considered hostile toward the loyalist government and tried by emergency "popular tribunals."

Before the lull in the vicinity of the capital, heavy fighting raged to the north. The early hours of the battle were particularly ferocious in the neighborhood of Aravaca, four miles away.

As the violence subsided, loyalist officials claimed the rebels were easing the attack because their "German shock troops" had suffered heavy losses in the week's fighting.

General Jose Malja, president of the Madrid defense council, proudly proclaimed:

"Militia soldiers! For seven days the enemy has been attacking with the greatest energy the positions around Madrid. For this attack Italy, Germany and Portugal, aided by Moroccan and legionnaires, concentrated all their strength. It is clear from their broadcasts they did not expect to meet such resistance."

Possibility of another "sympathy strike" designed by union strategists to force General Motors into a formal parley on collective bargaining, also loomed with announcement workers of the Fleetwood division of General Motors here would hold a mass meeting tomorrow. Fleetwood supplies bodies to the Cadillac plant where 5,000 went jobless last Thursday after several hundred men sat down in a "sympathy strike" at the call of the union.

The relief load, occasioned by layoffs in General Motors and allied plants as a result of shortages due to strikes, meanwhile headed toward a $6,000,000 weekly cost with prospects at least 300,000 pay checks will be cut off altogether, and close to a half million reduced by the end of the week.

As the day started, an estimated 93,000 General Motors workers (G. M. figures) were on the idle list with some 40,000 more destined for the relief rolls. Some layoffs were due today, others within a few days, making painfully accurate the prediction of William S. Knudsen, G. M. executive vice president, that 135,000 G. M. workers alone would be almost immediately affected. It was estimated a total of 200,000 auto workers were jobless as the week started.

French consul general, to Col. L. Beigbeder Y. Atienza, Spanish high commissioner.

An official communique read: "Conforming with instructions from the French resident-general at Rabat, French Consul Serres at Tetuan interviewed on January 9 Col. Beigbeder, acting as high commissioner of the Spanish Moroccan zone."

"After recalling formal stipulations of the Franco-Spanish conventions of 1904 and 1912, the French representative called attention of Beigbeder to reports of the arrival at Melilla and the forthcoming debarkation from Ceuta of foreign contingents in France's service."

"Beigbeder answered no constituted units or contingents of the Foreign Legion were stationed in Morocco or were awaited there."

"From these declarations, it was revealed authorities at Tetuan realized the serious international consequences which debarkation of forelgn contingents from any point whatsoever in Morocco would entail."

It was understood Franco's reply was hastily drawn up during a night-long meeting to Franco's junta under the moral pressure of the French and British fleet maneuvers off Spanish Morocco, and with the open knowledge that France intended a second note today direct to Franco, if a satisfactory reply were not received to the first.

Meanwhile, a violent Nazi campaign charging France with warlike intentions, seizing Spanish Morocco and a provocative attitude at the Moroccan port of Ceuta, is a prelude to a German demand for restoration of her colonies, the Paris Midi asserted today.

The paper charged Dr. Hjalmar Schacht, Reichsbank head, is coming to Paris after Jan. 15 to make the German colonial demands on an economic basis.

When he escaped from prison in Prague, Czechoslovakia, a convict took refuge in a disused factory. He placed a notice on the gates offering the office furniture for sale, and was selling stock he had found in the sheds when one of his customers became suspicious. The police took him back to prison.

Three Young Men Sentenced To Die In Electric Chair

(International News Service)

MEDIA, Pa., Jan. 11.—Convicted of murder by separate juries, three Chester youths today were sentenced to die in the electric chair for the 41-cent holdup in which Floyd Transon, 38, a negro, was shot to death on a lonely Chester street last July 2.

Those doomed to death are Theodore Duminick, 19, Edward Rose, 20, and John Oeszak, 19. Rose was convicted last Wednesday; Oeszak on Saturday and Duminick last night. All three juries recommended the death penalty.

Never before in Delaware county's history have three men been sentenced to death for a single murder.

The four Burial Chapels beneath the Church of Santa Maria della Concezione in Rome are decorated with the bones of about 4,000 departed Capuchins.

FAITH

We know that it is mighty hard to write an Ad that will please everyone but judging from the number of people who have called us on the phone or met us on the street and spoke to us commending us on our ads and saying that they read every one of them, we thought we were doing fine.

BUT, ALAS, a lady called us up not long ago, and after she told us what she thought of us, she finished up very emphatically by telling us that our ads gave everyone who read them, a pain in the neck.

STUNNED? I WOULD SAY SO. But after a second thought I remembered about attending the evening services in a number of the larger churches and after seeing the crowds that were there to hear the fine sermons their faithful ministers had labored long and hard to prepare, I thought, even a minister cannot say the things that would please everybody.

But, if reading our ads gives anybody a pain in the neck, please don't read them, but do your duty by filling up the vacant pews in your church, Sabbath evening, as I can assure you that you will not hear anything there that will do you any harm.

WE DO NOT LEND OR RENT OUR CHAIRS. THEY ARE FOR FUNERAL WORK ONLY.

HAVE YOU THE UTMOST FAITH IN YOUR FUNERAL DIRECTOR?

Hadassah Celebrates Jewish National Fund Foundation

A very well attended function of New Castle chapter Hadassah and the local unit Junior Hadassah held in the assembly room of Temple Israel Sunday evening, was dedicated to the 35th anniversary celebration of the founding of the Jewish National Fund which buys land in Palestine as the inalienable possession of the Jewish people.

This meeting was made the occasion for a family reunion, inasmuch as the membership of the Men's Zionist organization had been invited to be present, and many evidenced their interest in the cause of the rebuilding of Zion by their presence.

A brief business session preceded the evening's program. Reports were heard from the recent Thrift luncheon, from the Donor Dance which will be held at the Field club Tuesday evening, March 16; of the Brick campaign being conducted at the present time on behalf of the University hospital which is achieving excellent results; and a report by Mrs. M. Newmark, chairman of the local Jewish National Fund committee on the proceeds of the blue box collection, and the present campaign to replace denuded trees in the Holy Land.

An outstanding contribution to the Jewish National Fund Tree campaign by Mrs. Jack Kulkin, in honor of her son's approaching confirmation, was announced.

Miss Frieda Shifman, program chairman of the Junior unit, and first president of the local branch, presided over the evening's program. She called for brief greetings from Dr. Hyman A. Frank and Sam Edelstein, president, both active workers in the local men's Zionist group.

Miss Shifman introduced Miss Ina Rosenberg, president local Junior group, and Irene Schiffman who as delegates to the recent national Junior Hadassah convention in Washington, D. C., brought brief reports and highlights, and told of outstanding speakers who addressed the Juniors assembled from all over the country.

Rabbi Norman Diamond of Temple Israel, was called upon and in the course of his remarks, announced the first meeting of the Jewish Public Forum slated to meet Thursday evening, January 14, at Temple Israel.

He urged all to participate in the discussion of the topic, "What Constitutes a Jew."

There followed a group of Yiddish and Palestinian songs with a special song dedicated to Hadassah which was sung effectively by M. Newmark.

The speaker of the evening, Mrs. J. B. Grossman, of New York City, a member of the national board Hadassah, who is touring the West-Pennsylvania region, was introduced by Mrs. L. F. Kohn.

Reiterating that trees symbolize Jewish colonization in the Holy Land, Mrs. Grossman contrasted in her talk, the unprogressive mode of agricultural life of the Arabs with the new and modern methods of Jewish colonists, as observed by herself in her trip through the Holy Land.

She stressed the foundation work of the Jewish National Fund with the structure of Hadassah, medical work to bring about health and sanitation conditions, and the superstructure of Hadassah preventative work in its complete child welfare program.

She lifted Hadassah's three newest responsibilities, the present erection of Rothschild Hadassah University hospital on Mt. Scopus; the Youth Aliyah movement, that transference of German and Polish youth to agricultural and industrial life of Palestine; third, Hadassah educational program for its members in America.

There was a question period in which a lively discussion ensued which brought to a close an unusually enjoyable and informative evening.

Since this is the month of Jewish Arbor Day in Palestine, which is devoted to the planting of trees, the refreshment table during the social hour, held a bountiful supply of Palestinian fruits, and other goodies over which the hostesses of the evening presided.

A CONTINUING JOB

PERMANENT highways have not yet been laid and it is probable that they never will be.

The work of road building in any part of the country is not done when the covering is removed from the concrete or asphalt and the shoulders are banked up to the pavement. It will not be long before repairs are required and changes will be deemed necessary. Roads wear out, weather conditions work heavy damage; great trucks carrying freight carloads smash and break them and pound their surfaces full of defects.

None of the roads put down, say five to 15 years ago, fully meet present-day requirements. They must be widened; new surfaces must be laid; curves must be modified; danger spots must be made safer; intersections must be improved; grade crossings must be eliminated. In many instances they must be practically rebuilt.

When road improvement was first started, little was known about building highways as we consider them at present and a great many mistakes were made, not only in the building but in their location. Hard roads were laid in unnecessary places in those years, for it was all under the direction of local officials and such a thing as a state system was not contemplated.

The result is that in every state the work of rebuilding is perhaps as extensive as new work. And this must go on—for there will be little or no reduction in the extent of automotive traffic. We must keep mending and improving our "ways," year after year, making them better all the time.

PRIZES FOR BEING POLITE

Boys and girls who found it to be charming just before Christmas might be interested in Liza Sproul, eight, and George Nevins, thirteen, who were the most polite children in Paris, Missouri, during all of 1936—and got a prize for it!

Every year a boy and girl are rewarded there for being good for twelve whole months, a fearfully long time for some, but as easy as pie for children like Liza and George. All Liza had to do was to be a little girl of eight, and that's enough but George had to work after school to help support his widowed mother, and it's hard to be polite when one hasn't time to play with the gang.

When one is eight, or even thirteen, it isn't always possible to be courteous and attentive and quiet and obedient when all nature is dancing and jubilant, calling little feet and throats to be noisily gay also.

Yet—there are prizes not only in Missouri but everywhere, for girls and boys who watch their manners. Could it be that the open-eyed wide-eyed children wonder why grown-ups don't have prizes for themselves, so they, too, would be more polite?

EVERYONE WALKS

There is food for interesting thought in the fact that, while we write and speak of pedestrians as though they were a class apart, they actually are not. Indeed, we may be thankful that in America the word "cavalier," which once used to describe the horseback-riding as distinguished from the walking classes, has found no such modern counterpart as "automobile" or "gasoline."

The heat with which we argue the rights and duties of the pedestrian and the motorist easily misrepresents the proverbial visitor from Mars that here were two hostile classes on the point of flying at each other's throats. There is no subject on which we as a nation more readily become indignant. In fact, if it were not for the saving circumstance that the American pedestrian at any moment may step into a motor car and become an "automobile," or the other way around, almost any slushy day really would provide all the provocation needed for a bloody insurrection.

We may be thankful that in America, at least, pedestrianism is alternately an art and a vice, but never, never a badge of class distinction.

PANNING VITAMINS

One of a number of substitutes for our vanished and recently much-lamented frontiers is furnished, just for example, by vitamins, those mysterious qualities present to some extent in most foods but capable in concentration of exercising all sorts of beneficial influences on bodily chemistry.

The boy who in '49 might have set out with a banjo on his knee to pan wealth from the gold-bearing sands of California now sets out for college, also with a banjo on his knee, studies chemistry and ends up by panning vitamins from various neglected left-overs of human diet. Sudden fame is as possible in the one case as in the other, and sudden wealth is by no means impossible on this and other frontiers of the domain of science.

Nor are opportunities for sharing in the benefits of such pioneering confined solely to the discoverers, any more than the first explorers were exclusive beneficiaries of the riches of the old frontiers. Recently it was announced that the livers of pichards and greyfish, abundant but more or less inedible denizens of the ocean off British Columbia, have been found incomparably richer than any other known source in Vitamins A and D.

Now there is talk of a "billion dollar industry," to be built on the basis of this discovery. Instead of a gold rush, there is to be a pichard and greyfish rush.

To some it will not sound so romantic, but that is a matter of taste, just as pioneering was a taste, even in '49. The fact remains that the frontiers of man's contact with nature still exist, still are expanding and still are fruitful of fame and fortune for those who will seek them.

The land that has suffered most is the one where you find the most bronze statues.

Nineteen thirty-seven must have a feeling of dismay when it reads what is expected of it.

MOTOR SAFETY.

There is to be launched in 1937 a very intensive campaign on the part of insurance companies to insure more safety for the automobilist.

It is unfortunately true today that most any citizen—young or old, can eventually obtain a license to drive a motor car. There are thousands of men and women and even children driving automobiles today who are minus a leg or an arm or an eye, who are deaf, who have heart troubles, who are liable, in fact, to do most anything of a reckless and careless nature.

Legislators of the different states are making it compulsory for the owners of automobiles to carry personal liability and property damage insurance policies, but this does not answer the question. The same reckless, careless driver armed with an insurance policy says, "What do I care? The insurance company will pay for any damage I do." And this attitude has raised the premiums on that kind of insurance tremendously. In Massachusetts it has gotten to be an almost prohibitive rate. The thoughtful insurance men now are trying to combine with the thoughtful members of the state legislatures and make it impossible for anyone to obtain a license to drive a motor car that the insurance company will not gladly take as a risk. The insurance companies do not write every applicant. The Motor Vehicle Departments of the various states practically do give a Driver's License to every applicant and time and again an accident happens where the owner of the car has no insurance whatsoever.

The safety proposition now is to the passage of such laws as will require the applicant for a Driver's License to show the Motor Vehicle Department of that state that he can obtain a policy of insurance.

In this particular let it be remembered that the insurance companies go very deeply into the life history of every applicant for such a policy. They want to know whether or not he is in possession of all of his limbs; whether or not he is in possession of all his senses. They want to know whether or not he is addicted to the use of intoxicating liquors. They want to know whether or not he is a good financial risk and when they get through with their investigation of the applicant's personal liability and property damage insurance, they sometimes know more about the applicant than the applicant knows about himself.

This is going to be a real campaign for safety and if the thoughtful legislator and the thoughtful insurance man can put this over, there will be less drivers, but they will be more safe.

It is entirely too common to attribute a person who is not in the habit of drinking has taken one drink too many, which is very unfortunate, and as to that class, it is comparatively small and conserving it, it is going to be difficult to legislate.

ADVICE FROM TOM

TOM'S ALWAYS asking for advice.

He comes in, opens up his heart, lays all his problems and difficulties before you, and asks if you will please out of the kindness of YOUR heart and your wide experience and judgment please tell him what YOU would do if you were in his place.

His confidence is flattering. You forget that you have sworn never, never to give advice again.

You listen attentively, you put your chin in your hand, you think long and solemnly and then you give him your thoughtfully considered opinion.

Tom thanks you enthusiastically, as joyfully as a puppy rolling around with you go to the kitchen. You've been a great help to him. You've cleared up the situation beautifully. . . . You don't know how much your judgment means to him. He doesn't know what he would have done without you. He surely does appreciate the time and attention you've given to him and his affairs. And he'll never forget it. Thank you again, so long. . . . He'll tell you how it comes out.

You swell a little and feel you have done a good deed.

Next day you meet another friend of yours. . . . He mentions that Tom was in to see him "yesterday." Old Tom had a difficult problem on his hands and wanted some advice. He heard the whole story, and perhaps the advice wasn't worth much, but he thought he'd help him a little. Nice fellow, Tom, but sort of helpless, don't you think? But always very grateful for anything you did for him.

You don't tell your friend that Tom was in to see you, too. What's the use? But you do feel sort of let down—you thought you were a special adviser and you find you were just one of the gang. Tom took your time and your friend's time and perhaps the time of half a dozen other fellows—and at the end of the day probably flipped a coin to decide what to do.

You don't feel very cheerful about Tom. . . . In fact, you think he gives you a pain in the neck.

Just wait till he asks YOU for advice again. Just wait!

FROM A GOOD FRIEND

Last summer we had a visitor at our home from Orlando, Florida, Mrs. Willis Griffin, one of the fine ladies from the south, and a very dear friend of our family. After Mrs. Griffin went home she made a very fine colored picture of our garden. It reached us yesterday. Under the picture is a poem written by herself. It follows below:

I remember a little garden

Where "Snow-on-the-Mountain"

Shades the gleaming flowers

Which bloom so merry and bright

A flag-stone walk leads by the tree

Where luscious apples grow,

While banked above a low stone wall

Blue-eyes Plumbagos blow.

Morning-glories of palest blue

Riot o'er a trellis high;

And roses of a crimson hue—

Plaudit their beauty to the sky.

A pink flamingo proud and tall

Broods over this sylvan delight.

I mount each terrace in memory

And re-live in my dreams tonight.

Happy hours in this garden spent

In a home like a jewel fair—

With Fred and Kate and their loved ones

Who grow flowers of friendship rare.

I long for this little garden

For these friends so kind and true.

So through the Florida winter

I'll be waiting, dear ones, for you.

Good Taste

By FRANCINE MARKEL

DEAR MISS MARKEL—Please set me straight on the following:

(1) How should I hold the spoon and the fork when taking food from a serving dish? (2) Should I push my chair back after leaving the dinner table? (3) What about holding out the little finger when lifting a cup? (4) How should the napkin be left after dinner? H. C.

Answer—Always hold the fork in your left hand and the spoon in your right. (2) A ter rising from a dining table, do not push your chair back under the table. Let it remain where it is after you have risen, unless, of course, you are dining at home where everyone takes care of himself and "here is" servant to attend to such matters. (3) Always hold your cup between your thumb and first two fingers, allowing your remaining ones to point toward the palm of your hand. Never dangle them in midair. (4) When dining out, place your napkin, unfolded, on the table after you have finished using it.

Dear Miss Markel—Is it proper for a widow to stop wearing her wedding ring when her husband has been dead five or six years. If so, should she wear the engagement ring that her husband gave her on her left or right hand? M. E.

Answer—A widow may wear her wedding ring for the remainder of her life, or until she accepts from another man a engagement or wedding ring. On the contrary she is privileged to remove her wedding ring after her husband's death. It she wishes. She may wear her engagement ring on either hand.

Comment On Labor Decisions.

By LESLIE EICHEL

Central Press Columnist

"THE DRAMA of international diplomacy, which holds the stage in Washington as well as in other world capitals, presents a much less alarming appearance back-stage than to spectators out front," writes Julius C. Edelstein, a newspaper observer for us in Washington.

"While Germany and Japan talk ferociously of the Soviet Union, what occurs in Washington?"

"Japanese Ambassador Saito and Mme. Saito gave a dinner in honor of the newly appointed ambassador to the Soviet Union, Joseph E. Davies, and his multi-millionaire wife. And who was the other honored guest of the evening? None other than Ivan Trotsky, Soviet ambassador to the United States."

"Mr. Saito and Mr. Trotsky frolicked in the best of good-natured fun."

"Then, at another reception, Mr. Saito, Mr. Trotsky and Herr Hans Luther, German ambassador to the United States, were present as ranking guests, and chatted amiably."

"Aside from their official duties, these envoys of semi-warring nations often are as chummy as cats, and get along as peacefully as a litter of lambs."

NEUTRAL GROUND

That is as President Roosevelt would have it.

His desire, evidently, is to have the United States as neutral ground, to which overwrought nations may send their envoys to meet with the envoys of other nations in a general peace conference.

Only the United States takes sides with none will the nation feel free to come to liquidate their latest brand of hatreds.

TWO LABOR DECISIONS

Mr. Edelstein also calls our attention to two important labor decisions. He writes:

"A situation without parallel in legal annals came to a head in Progressive Wisconsin when Chief Justice Marvin Rosenberry of the state supreme court handed down an injunction forbidding Circuit Judge C. M. Davison of Racine, Wis., to organize a 'bailiff's army' to enforce a court injunction which civil law enforcement agencies have thus far hesitated to put into effect."

"The lower court jurist some time ago issued an injunction forbidding strikers at the J. I. Case Co. manufacturing plant to picket the establishment. The picketing constituted a threat to peace and order, Judge Davison ruled. To support him in his stand, the judge pointed to a record of considerable violence during the course of the strike, one of long and bitter standing."

"But the picketing went on, regardless. Judge Davison threatened and cajoled in vain. He appealed to civil officers to enforce the injunction. They temporized, and finally refused. The jurist finally appealed to Gov. Philip La Follette to call out the National Guard."

"Governor La Follette was in a delicate position. To refuse to call out the Guard might be construed a violation of his oath of office. To call out the Guard might be political suicide; the strikers had considerable public support, and Judge Davison's reputation is that of a conservative."

"The Wisconsin governor finally sent Lloyd C. Garrison, dean of the University of Wisconsin law school and one-time chairman of the National Labor Relations board, to investigate. Dean Garrison returned without a recommendation. The situation was serious, and there seemed no immediate prospect of reconciliation. Dean Garrison said in private conversation, however, he understood to have advised the governor to stand pat."

"At this point Judge Davison threatened to deputize a police force of 'bailiffs to enforce the court injunction."

"I can offer as reward Only crumbs and scraps of pleas— To my fellows I afford But occasional bits of leisure."

"I'm not fair to look upon. I have neither charm nor beauty Of life's graces I have none. I am dull and cold as a lead, I am swayed by nothing human."

"Stern and cold and grim am I! 'Gainst the lure that she can proffer When a woman passes by, What have I a man to offer?"

American philosopher. One of his ideas was that it would be a good thing to send every boy of 18 to sea or into the mines for a year or two, to teach him the meaning of hard work and make a man of him; it would satisfy the adolescent yearning for adventure and at the same time inculcate habits of industry and break the young to discipline. Thus he anticipated the CCC by many years.

It was mounted on revolving drums which slowly unrolled and revealed all of the principal scenes on the 1,200 miles of the river. Where it is now the writer has been unable to find. Can any reader tell.

Some weeks ago this column stated government benefits could be obtained by men who were dishonorably discharged from the Army or Navy. Evidence that a surprising number of men left the service under a cloud is supplied by the large number of requests for further information.

By special acts of Congress, which representatives and senators have passed by the hundreds, usually without debate and almost automatically, veterans of previous wars who were dishonorably discharged have obtained pensions. With this precedent well established, it is to be expected that similar benefits will be obtained by dishonorably discharged veterans of the last conflict through special individual measures initiated by their congressmen.

One of the letters received from A—B— of Philadelphia, indicates a Congressional Medal of Honor man was dishonorably discharged. His letter states: "I served through the Spanish-American War from beginning to end, and was under fire I was awarded the Congressional medal. After the war, I overstayed leave, and was dishonorably discharged. I asked to be reinstated to finish my enlistment term, but was refused. I need a pension now."

IF YOU WANT TO BE EXTRA CAREFUL WITH COLDS

Use Vicks VapoRub... This New Improved Way

During this treacherous winter weather, no cold should be neglected. Don't delay. Don't experiment with half-way measures. The moment you come down with a cold, go straight to bed and use your old dependable Vicks VapoRub—and use it this new improved way. Then you not only enjoy all the benefits that have made VapoRub the standby of two generations; you actually increase its effectiveness.

Lengthens and Strengthens VapoRub's Action—At bedtime, massage the throat, chest and back (between and below the shoulder-blades) for three full minutes with Vicks VapoRub. Then spread a thick layer over the chest and cover with a warmed cloth. Follow these tested directions carefully. Each step of this "3-Minute VapoRub Massage" helps to lengthen and strengthen VapoRub's famous two-way action during the night.

Relieves a Cold Two Ways at Once—Almost before the VapoRub is well rubbed on, it starts to bring relief two ways at once—2 direct ways:

1. Through the Skin. VapoRub acts direct through the skin like a poultice or plaster.
2. Medicated Vapors. At the same time, its medicated vapors, released by body heat, are breathed in for hours—about 18 times a minute—direct to the irritated air-passages of the nose, throat and chest.

This combined poultice-and-vapor action loosens phlegm and makes breathing easier—relieves irritation—eases the cough—helps break congestion. Long after you relax into comfortable sleep, VapoRub keeps right on working—hour after hour. Often, by morning the worst of the cold is over.

Avoids Risk of Stomach Upsets—This safe external treatment cannot possibly upset the stomach, as constant internal "dosing" is so apt to do. It can be used freely, as often as needed, even on the youngest child.

Note: Any "cold" not promptly relieved by this thorough treatment with Vicks VapoRub should have the attention of a doctor.

WASHINGTON AT A GLANCE

Two Factions Are Up In Air

Message Of President Roosevelt On Constitution Leaves Both Sides Puzzled

AMENDMENTS WERE READY FOR HOPPER

Central Press
Washington Bureau
602 Times-Herald Bldg.
By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Columnist.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11.—Before President Roosevelt delivered his message at the opening of congress a state of jitters prevailed among strict constitutionalists lest his address serve as a signal for the beginning of a campaign virtually to scrap the fundamental law of the country.

Now constitutional amendmentists are equally jittery because the executive address supported old-time principles if interpreted to meet modern conditions.

It is to be borne in mind that several legislators had an amendment each to offer at the current session on Capitol Hill. They expected respectively to make such amendments their principal stock in trade on into the indefinite future. And they looked for the administration's blessing.

At one fell swoop the administration has said that at least for the present it is uninterested in them.

BOTH SIDES RATTLED

It is enough to rattle any political speculator to have what he had counted on as his principal asset suddenly swept aside as of no immediate value—perhaps never.

For that matter the constitutionalists are flabbergasted also. The constitutionalists were all set to attack the administration, folk as constitution wreckers.

Instead, the president puts it that he is the constitution's defender. Thus their thunder likewise is stolen.

AS TO SUPREME COURT—

Thus a complete readjustment of tactics is necessary on both sides. That it embarrasses conservative Republicanism, by knocking it out as an issue, of course is a matter of no regret to the White House.

But there is an unmanageable Democratic element which the administration doubtless wished to call in, to heel, too. This element planned to rush and hustle the president into a program of its own devising. The president has put the husher on that element also.

And there are constitution-amending radicals of both parties whom he doubtless desired to curb—not crush but qualify.

How much of a warning the president intended to convey to the supreme court is problematic.

Today's supreme court is conservative. President Roosevelt almost specifically said that he wants a liberal one. It can become liberal in two ways. If enough of its old-time reactionary members kindly will die some of them are very aged—he can appoint enough liberals in their places to change its complexion.

Or its membership can be increased sufficiently to enable him to swamp the bench with liberal justices.

This needs no constitutional amendment.

A simple act of congress is adequate and President Roosevelt can dictate the act of congress. I am not sure that the average elector understands the difference.

A congressional vote can pass a mere law. It takes 36 states to ratify a constitutional amendment.

PITTED AGAINST BLAZING OIL-WELL

"Smoking Camels helps to keep my digestion in trim," says Patton, oil-well fire-fighter

CLAD in an asbestos suit (left), "Pat" Patton tackles a blazing oil-well. "After that I can tuck away a hearty meal provided I have Camels handy," says Patton, enjoying a hasty bite (right). "Smoking Camels helps keep my digestion in proper trim. And Camels don't get on my nerves." Camels increase the flow of fluids—alkaline digestive fluids so vital to a sense of well-being after eating. Camels are mild!

COSTLIER TOBACCOS

Camels are made from finer, MORE EXPENSIVE TOBACCOS . . . Turkish and Domestic . . . than any other popular brand.

"A BRONC BUSTER takes a terrible jouncing," Alice Greenough (left), explains. "But Camels help me enjoy my food. Smoking Camels with my meals smooths things out for my digestion. I like Camels' mild, delicate flavor."

SPORTS REPORTER AGREES 100% with "Pat" Patton that Camels help digestion along. James Gould (right), speaking: "My job's a strain on nerves and digestion too. And my smoke is the same as 'Pat' Patton's. Camels set me right—give me a cheery 'lift.'"

"For Digestion's Sake . . . Smoke Camels!"

"CAMELS ARE GRAND at mealtimes," says this New York matron, Mrs. Vincent Murray. "I smoke them during meals and afterwards."

ALL-AMERICAN Hockey Star, Phil La Batte says: "Good digestion and healthy nerves are 'musts' in this game. So I smoke Camels."

Many Opinions On 'Most Horrible Sin'

Answer Will Be Given By Central Christian Pastor On January 17

Since announcing that he would preach on, "The Sin That Causes the Most Sadness in the World" on January 17, Rev. Thomas B. Shearer of the Central Christian church has invited the public to submit opinions. Many answers have been submitted, some of which are very unusual.

To one man the question was put as follows: "If you could remove one thing from the world, the one thing that causes the most sadness, what would it be?" He answered, "Women."

Much interest has been manifested and Rev. Shearer stated today that the answer consists of one word, a word containing more than ten letters, and that it is a sin committed by most people every day; even little children.

FIND ANCIENT COINS

LEWES, Del.—Natives of this seafaring town and nearby Rehoboth Beach are speculating over the source of six British coins 155 years old, that were discovered near Indian River Inlet recently. Joseph Shek, of Lewes, and Henry Carlisle of Rehoboth, spotted the coins in the sand dunes between the ocean and the inlet. Local historians believe the money to be part of a treasure-trove lost on the British sloop of war De Braak, which sank near Cape Henlopen in May, 1798.

Speaking Frankly

On the Subject of Funeral Expense

For several years our advertising messages have furnished facts about funeral service and its cost. Many favorable comments have been received upon our policy of speaking frankly about this little known subject.

The tabulation showing the cost, by groups, of the funerals we have conducted is a summary of the judgment of families in ordering funerals. At the Leyde Funeral Home, we do not sell funerals. Our prices are plainly marked and people select such accessories as they wish. When one group spends less than $200 and another more than $500 it is because those prices represent what they want or can afford. It is our own belief that a fine funeral service should meet the needs of every family at prices they can afford to pay. That is why we maintain a beautiful Funeral Home and our own superior equipment. And that is why these facilities are available to every family regardless of the amount they decide to spend.

Statement of the Costs of 210 Consecutive Adult Funerals conducted by Leyde Funeral Service:

7 Funerals cost $150 or less
18 Funerals from $151 to $200
66 Funerals from $201 to $300
47 Funerals from $301 to $400
39 Funerals from $401 to $500
21 Funerals from $501 to $600
12 Funerals more than $600

The prices shown in above tabulation cover our entire charges. The only further cost of those funerals was the amount paid to the cemetery for the grave.

We have aided many who could afford only an inexpensive funeral to have a service that was satisfactory in every respect. Anyone desiring further information about funeral service or its cost is invited to call or send for our booklet, "Facts About Funerals," which is mailed free of charge upon request. You incur no obligation.

See Possibility That Next Pope May Be American

Chance However Is Regarded As Remote—Hope For
Pius Recovery Dwindles

By FRANK GERVASI
International News Service Staff
Correspondent
VATICAN CITY, Jan. 11.—Although admitted in even the most pro-American Vatican circles to be remote, the possibility arose today that the next pope may be an American.

With typical Roman realism in Vatican matters, discreet speculation as to who will eventually succeed to the throne of St. Peter is frequently heard as hope dwindles that Pope Pius XI can long survive his critical illness.

Romans whose frequently voiced motto, "Se Muore Un Papa Se Ne Fa Un Altro"—"If the pope dies we will create another"—mention Patrick Cardinal Hayes, Archbishop of New York, and William Cardinal O'Connell, Archbishop of Boston, as "Papabili"—likely candidates for succession.

High Vatican sources support repeated reports mentioning the two American cardinals as possible successors to the present pontiff with the statement:

"If for any reason the next pope is not an Italian, he is certain to be an American."

At least this is the first time in the memory of Vatican functionaries that officials, discreetly voiced though it is, have expressed themselves in favor of an American successor to the holy seat.

Seek Settlement Of Glass Strike At Toledo, Ohio

(International News Service)
TOLEDO, O., Jan. 11.—Arranged by federal mediator Ralph A. Lind, the first joint conference between company and union officials, looking toward settlement of the month-old strike which has closed plants of the Libbey-Owens-Ford Glass Co. was scheduled to start here today.

Glen W. McCabe, president of the Federation of Flat Glass Workers, was due here this morning for the conference. Local representatives from unions in Shreveport, La., Charlestown, W. Va., and Ottawa, Ill., where the company has plants, arrived over the week-end.

Company officials said they were ready for the meeting, as scheduled. It was generally believed that outcome of the negotiations here will have considerable effect upon the possible settlement of the strike which has kept plants of the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Co. closed for 12 weeks. The two companies are the major producers of automobile glass.

Peggy Joyce Is Keeping Young

Rivals Fannie Ward In Ability To Stave Off Ravages Of Time In Appearance

TYPICAL DAY WITH M'INTYRE

(By O. O. McIntyre)

NEW YORK, Jan. 11.—Diary: Out in the flick of an icy gale in quest of scrapple for breakfast. And none available. But there came a box of Oregon pears from Jim Woods, the hotel man in San Francisco, and a box of apples from Lucius Beebe sent from his Boston produce house, so I feasted on fruit. At my task until Floyd Gibbons came in and later Bob Brinkhoff and we gabbed of many things and sang some old minstrel songs, all very male. So with my lady to the John Goldens' tea at the Coffee House club and then to sit awhile with George and Calette Armsby.

Dined on a chine of beef, cooked in cabbage and hot peppers a recipe of Louis Brownfield's. Then to call on Charles and Kathleen Norris here from California and home where the Boston "Nimble" had been on another rampage, pulling over a lamp and stood waiting at a closet door for punishment.

Peggy Joyce threatens with the onrush of years to become a second Fannie Ward in the art of staying young. There is a span of years in Peggy's favor, of course, between them but La Joyce has reached the age when time begins to make at least slight impact. Yet to appearances she is the same peach-blown, glacial and slick as a lynx blonde she was 15 years ago. For at least 15 years she has been a gal who likes to go cafeing. Both here and abroad.

And there has seldom been an evening she has not been out there at a front row table, dancing.

Fannie Ward, incidentally, seems permanently oriented to London. Her daughter is married to a noble and they live on a rather pretentious estate in Surrey. Miss Ward also remains unchanged. Looking the same as she has for a quarter century. She confesses to 65 with an arch quirk of smile. Some of the knowing tuck on six years and say she is getting a break. She writes friends that young blades still make passes at her when she trips through various hotel foyers to afternoon teas. Only her hands are a give-away but they are always daintily gloved.

Economy note: Viola Rodgers, whom beautiful reportress, buys all the Queen Victoria furniture she can find in the curiosity shops because they are initialed V. R.

The late Samuel Merwin once lived in Evanston, Ill., and was related to Evanston's famed Frances Willard. Her house is still there, marked with a bronze tablet. She was wont to refer to the place as "Heavenston" and Merwin, quite a traveler, always liked to talk about it and praise it as one of the finest specimens of American suburbia. Club women have much to do with the town's municipal government and often pass unusual ordinances. I recall Merwin telling of one that did not permit dogs to enter food stores, which as a dog lover I think is eminently proper. The owner who respects the rights of others abuses a privilege when he takes a dog to such places.

Underweight literary and artist fellows are inclined to talk in presence of athletes and it's often difficult to establish anything remotely resembling cordiality among them. A day one recent fall Hal Schumacher, the hefty pitcher, dropped into Clare Dwigins' camp upstate. Russ Cole, the cartoonist, not so hefty, was there and Cole makes immediate and unreasonable dislike. And later at the Polo Grounds he saw the Cubs pound the pitcher all over the lot and stood up and cheered.

Jagatelles: Billy Rose needs only four hours sleep to get about. Fourteen of Paul Whiteman's organization have become stars of orchestras, radio and screen. Tin Pan Alley is turning out a "Boysy" song in honor of Mrs. Simpson's pet name for Windsor. Charlie Chaplin, rumors grow, is thinking of a serious film role. Bob Davis is off for a tour of India and a visit to Gandhi.

Sudden coming on of a poem: No livelier shirts have ever flowered Than those that decorate Roy Howard; But ties that race him nip and tuck Are often haunted by Frank Buck. (Copyright, 1937, McNaught Syndicate, Inc.)

Contrary to popular belief, the idea of one street is not new. Caesar created them in Rome centuries ago, because of the tie-ups that resulted when two chariots met in a narrow thoroughfare.

Dick is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Cramer.

Grace Miles, who plays Mrs. Kroegins, is well known to the student body as a Junior, a Girl Scout and a member of Leaders' club. Grace sang an important role in the school operetta "Lelawala" last year. As Mr. Kroegins' doubtfully blessed spouse, Grace has an opportunity to display her powers both as a comedienne and a singer of no little ability as Mitzi, the masked soprano. Miss Miles is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry W. Miles of 1214 Albert street.

In the part of the Kroegins' daughter Jean, Cleora Brown makes her debut upon the high school stage. Cleora is enrolled in the sophomore class and Leaders' club. Tuna betwixt loyalty to her mother and her honest desire to see her father's program succeed, Jean adds an hilarious link to the chain of amusing events in which "Tune In" abounds. Cleora is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Brown of 4408 East Washington street.

As Mitzi, the switchboard operator, Sara Nitsche in Cinderella fashion is called upon to fill the place of Mrs. Kroegins', who has been forcibly removed to save the Kroegins Kippered Kodfish Hour. Sara is a member of the senior class which will graduate in June. She sang the title role of the school operetta "Lelawala" last year and is a member of Girl Reserves and Senatus Romanus, the Latin honor society. Miss Nitsche is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Nitsche of 236 W. Moody avenue.

Foreign-Made Flags Barred In New Bill

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11.—Rep. John M. Costello (D., Calif.) introduced a bill making it illegal to import foreign-made American flags. He said he acted "as a matter of personal interest" after he and other members of the Native Sons of the Golden West had noticed imported American flags, mostly small ones, used as dinner table decorations in California.

It seemed to us fitting that American flags be made in America," he said.

On Saturday evening Mahgi club members and guests gathered at Horschler hall, where Miss Vyda Mullen entertained at a delightful party. The gathering was of double importance, it being in the form of an anniversary of the Mahgi club and also commemorated Vyda's birthday anniversary.

A radio was installed in the hall and dancing was enjoyed throughout the evening.

At a late hour a delicious lunch was served by Mrs. Herbert Mullen, assisted by her daughter Eileen. A large birthday cake topped by glowing candles made an attractive centerpiece for the table.

Vyda was presented with a collection of lovely gifts in memory of that happy occasion. After the serving of the lunch, dancing was resumed, continuing until a later hour.

California Fruit Men Fight Frost

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 11—Anxious citrus growers fought desperately today to save a $100,000,000 fruit crop from the frosty touch of abnormal wintry weather, holding

A canopy of brown smoke shrouded the orchards after another night of smudging the groves against the threatened blight of cold weather.

Estimates of damage last night and early this morning were not available, but the thermometer readings were about the same as the night before, when it was unofficially estimated the orange crop suffered a 15 per cent loss.

BRITISH CONCENTRATE BIG MILITARY LEADERS

Being Assembled Near Gibraltar

Largest Concentration Since Tension In Mediterranean In Ethiopian War Days

FOUR ADMIRALS NOW INCLUDED

(International News Service) LONDON, Jan. 11.—Press dispatches appearing in London newspapers today recorded the greatest peace-time concentration of British naval and military commanders in Gibraltar since the Anglo-Italian Mediterranean tension during the Ethiopian war.

Four admirals and two generals are available at the Gibraltar fortress for Britain.

Admiral Sir Dudley Pound, commander-in-chief of the Mediterranean fleet, is aboard the Queen Elizabeth; Vice Admiral Geoffrey Blake, second in command in the Mediterranean, is aboard the battle cruiser Hood; Rear Admiral Kennedy Purvis, at present in command of British forces in Spanish waters, is aboard the Sussex, and Rear Admiral J. M. Phipps is in charge of his majesty's dockyard in Gibraltar. General Sir Charles Harrington, governor of Gibraltar, has been joined by Lieutenant General Sir Charles Bonham Carter, governor of Malta, who arrived aboard the Queen Elizabeth.

Patrol Moroccan Coast. The London Daily Telegraph in a Tangier dispatch said strong French and German naval forces are continuously patrolling the Moroccan coast and that German airplanes also are keeping a nightly watch on the Straits of Gibraltar. German officers coming ashore declare the ships are heavily manned, said the report.

The German cruiser Karlsruhe arrived at Tangier Saturday to refuel and parties of her son have gone ashore, it was reported, while the Italian cruiser Quarto also is at Tangier.

French authorities in Morocco are greatly perturbed, it was stated, by German activities, declaring the Germans have gradually and methodically seized control of Spanish Morocco.

It was stated economic control has been secured by German firms extracting iron ore, 7,000 tons of which are shipped daily from Melilla to Germany. The French intelligence service of Morocco was reported to have obtained definite information that increasing numbers of Germans have arrived in Morocco.

Continual Effort Of City Forester Adds To Gaston Park Appeal

If a person should introduce a topic of discussion a forest or a park during the wintry season, one readily forms a mental photograph of a quiet stretch of muddy ground covered with a layer of crumpled dead leaves, brittle tree limbs, and bare trees standing like lazy soldiers. The picture would represent everything but beauty.

Although a park or forest is far from being as picturesque and appealing to the eye as it is during a sunny day in June, the wintry dress provided by Mother Nature is enough to satisfy the most fastidious lover of nature. Let's spend an afternoon amid the winter, setting of Gaston park, located in what formerly was known as Cunningham's woods.

The trees are protected from automobiles of visitors by a guard rail which has been constructed recently. To the left, right, ahead and back stand rows of trees, bare of leaves but not of inhabitants as one would think.

Owen Penfield Fox, city forester who has spent the past six years beautifying the park, tells of some of the residents of Gaston park this time of the year.

More than 165 wild fox squirrel brighten up the appearance of trees with their prances and peculiar tunes.

"While many people believe most of the birds go south, such is not the case. Among the birds which I have seen here and which are here now are cardinals, tit mouses, juncos, hairy woodpeckers, yellow built sapsuckers, flickers and black capped chickadees," Fox explained. While speaking, Fox pointed out several of the birds which were seen on a series of feeding stations which were recently built. The food for these stations are provided by the East Side Garden club, Conservation Department of Women's club, and Women's club. A group of squirrels enjoying their dinner on one of the stations was an appealing sight, yesterday.

The "zoo" located a short distance away from the entrance, has been covered to protect the animals within. Fox displayed the collection which includes: Chinese golden pheasants, carrier pigeons, grey squirrel, rabbits, groundhog, (sound asleep), English Pahanum, coon and a most attractive red kit fox captured in Lawrence county.

The newly erected shelter houses, bridges, fireplaces and grills, set up in neat style, enhance the appearance greatly. The strange part of the whole thing is that the new improvement cost nothing. From discarded bricks, Fox has created fireplaces and grills. From the lumber and nails of a large shed which has been torn down, Fox built two shelter houses. From trunks of useless trees, attractive fireplace benches have been the result. Shrubbery which is scattered around the park adds more beauty.

Recent warm weather and sunshine collaborated to produce a most appealing picture.

Is Gaston Park popular? From nearby colleges, classes visit to carry out experiments. On warm days, tourists passing through quite often spent the afternoon at the park, Fox said. During the past summer, 500 picnics were enjoyed at the park with 62 corn and wiener roasts being staged there during October. Although summer is far off, Fox has reservations for picnics which will take place in June.

Fox, together with a number of other foresters and nature lovers, have predicted that the park will be one of the most popular and well known spots in Pennsylvania. Its beauty is increasing by leaps and bounds.

Two Local Men Receive Sentences In Butler Court

Two men from New Castle were given sentences before sentence court in Butler.

Walter N. Henry, R. D. 2, New Castle, was sentenced to one and a half to three years in the Western Penitentiary and a fine of $100.00. Henry pleaded guilty to the theft of two diamond rings from the home of Mrs. Burt Hull, 133 Greenway street, Zelenople.

Wilbert McGraw of New Castle pleaded guilty to the charge of obtaining goods under false pretense, and although the court did not believe the charge was justified by the circumstances, inasmuch as the defendant had pleaded guilty, the court ordered McGraw to pay the costs and placed him upon probation for a year on condition he obey the law and reports to Probation Officer Hunter E. Coulter as required.

Farmer Is Killed In Butler Crash

BUTLER, Pa., Jan. 11.—Automobiles claimed their fourth victim this year in Butler county when Charles Pierce, 72, of Mars, R. D. 1, Cranberry Township farmer was killed instantly in a crash at the Bruce Creek bridge near Ogle.

John A. Wolfram, Mars R. D. 1, told Coroner M. E. Headland that Pierce insisted on his driving to the extreme right of the road. Suddenly the car swerved to the right, struck a concrete abutment over Brush creek and stopped.

The abutment was 15 feet long, three feet high and 18 inches thick. It was hauled from its base into the creek six feet below. The car hung suspended above the stream.

Wolfram is in the Butler county jail charged with driving a motor vehicle while under the influence of intoxicating liquor and involuntary manslaughter.

Pierce had spent his entire life in Cranberry township. He leaves his widow, Anna R. Pierce.

Police Bullet Wounds Youth

Hazleton Police Stage Running Gun Battle With Two Young Men, On Highway

(International News Service)

HAZLETON, Pa., Jan. 11.—One Hazleton youth was perhaps fatally wounded and another was injured today in a running gun battle with police who attempted to halt the pair for questioning as robbery suspects.

The chase halted abruptly on the Hazleton-Stockton road when a motorcycle patrolman's bullet lodged in the brain of the driver of the fleeing car, forcing the machine into a roadside bank. The injured, rushed to Hazleton State hospital, were:

Charles Marcinacavage, 22, Hazleton, the driver, shot in the head, condition serious.

James Seiwel, Hazleton, his companion, suffering rib fractures, condition not serious.

Shot In Head

A police cruiser car was ditched in the chase, but a motorcycle patrolman continued the pursuit. In an exchange of shots, one of the police bullets crashed through the rear window of the speeding car, and buried itself in the driver's head.

Out of control, the machine swerved and crashed into an embankment.

Investigation disclosed four shots had been fired from Marcinacavage's gun, but none from Seiwel's, police said.

Both men were suspected of responsibility for a robbery last Friday night on the Hazleton-Allentown road, officers reported.

No matter how many medicines you have tried for your cough, chest cold or bronchial irritation, you can get relief now with Creomulsion. Creomulsion not only contains the soothing elements common to many remedies; such as, Syrup of White Pine Compound with Tar, fluid extract of Licorice Root, fluid extract of Wild Cherry and Menthol, but also has fluid extract of Ipecac for its powerful phlegm loosening effect, fluid extract of Cascara for its mild laxative effect and, most important of all, Beechwood Creosote is perfectly blended with all of these to reach the source of the trouble from the inside. Creomulsion can be taken frequently and continuously by adults and children with remarkable results. Yankees Expect Difficult Time Signing Players

Many Of The World Champions Will Want Salary Boosts For 1937, Is Report

Lou Gehrig Earned His Salary Increase, Joe DiMaggio Will Also Want More Dough

By LAWTON CARVER
International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Jan. 11.—Enjoying the affluence that goes with the world baseball championship—not to mention the brewery millions of Col. Jacob Ruppert—the New York Yankees business office today began digging in for a protracted holiday war.

Contracts are to be mailed within the next few days telling the athletes what they are expected to labor for through the long, hot summer, and in several cases the athletes will send them back unsigned, according to the buzzing in baseball circles.

Many Wants Raises
Reputedly all set for strenuous arguments are Larryup Lou Gehrig, probably the best first baseman in the game right now, besides being one of the great sluggers of all time; Joe DiMaggio, the rookie outfielder who actually lived up to most flattering advance notices; Cather Bill Dickey, basking in the afterglow of one of his greatest seasons; pitcher Red Ruffing and pitcher Lefty Gomez, the latter the man who shouldn't have but who did fail.

The cases of Gehrig and Gomez are parallel in the respect that both have wound up two-year contracts. Otherwise there is a marked difference in the caliber of their performances last season.

Gehrig Earned Raise
While Gehrig led both leagues in home runs with 49 and batted .384 to finish fifth among the American League regulars to earn a raise, Gomez had his second straight bad season and probably will have to take a very serious cut in the wallet.

He was the outstanding pitcher in the league two years ago. Last season he won 13 against seven defeats but he was among the least dependable of the Yankee flingers and really did not get going until the last two weeks.

Gehrig was supposed to have been paid $30,000 for each of the last two seasons. He probably will get considerably more. Gomez reportedly got $20,000 a year on his two-year contract and will be expected to accept less. The argument will center around how much more for Gehrig and how much less for Gomez.

DiMaggio A.K.s $20,000

DiMaggio recently announced through International News Service that he would not sign for less than $20,000 for next season. However, he supposedly has been offered a $5,000 raise over the $8,500 he received as a rookie last season when he batted .323 and hit 29 home runs. What he will do about it is expected to be revealed in the next few days.

As for catcher Bill Dickey, he led the New York club—composed almost entirely of ball powderers—in hitting with a mark of .362, notwithstanding an injury which kept him in the hospital and on the bench for a couple of weeks, and he is expected to demand a substantial raise.

Ruffing received about $12,000 last season, when he won 20 games, and had one of his best years. He is expected to cause plenty of dickering.

Titans Defeat Slippery Rock Teachers 37-34

Rockets Threaten Lead Of Westminster In Closing Periods Saturday Night

DEMO-GILLILAND STARS OF GAME

(Special To The News)

SLIPPERY ROCK, Pa., Jan. 11.—Westminster Titans had just enough of a margin to prevent a last minute scoring spree of the Slippery Rock Rockets from overcoming an early Titan lead to win their third straight of the season, 37-34, Saturday night.

The game was rough, with 23 fouls called. Both teams were off in their basket-shooting, hammering the bankboard with shots that went wild. Demo, Gilliland and Grubb took the scoring honors for the Titans as Demo led the count column with 13 points. Gilliland with 12 and Grubb with 10 followed closely behind. For the Rockets, Axtell with 14, and Truman, lanky center, with 10, led in the scoring.

Demo Stars

Coach Roark pulled Krivosh, Gilliland and Grubb out of the game late in the second half for substitutions with the Titans in the lead 33-22, but was forced to rush them into the fray with two minutes to go as the Rockets began to find the basket with dangerous rapidity.

Demo, Johnstown forward, experienced one of his "on nights" and turned in the best game of the year for the Roarkmen. Gilliland, New Wilmington product, hit the basket from all angles to turn in his best scoring game since wearing the Blue and White. Grubb kept above the 10 mark in scoring and Krivosh turned in his usual excellent game at guard.

The Titans went into an early lead, carrying the score up to 12-2 before the Rockets began closing up the gap. At the half the score stood doubled for the Titans, 16-8, a lead they held until with the score 37-27, the Rockets scored seven points while the Titans were going pointless.

Rockets Rally
With two minutes to go, the Rockets started a rally that almost brought them up with the Roarkmen. Truman sneaked under the basket for one, and Meals took a free throw to bring the Rockets up to 30. Truman's close-in goal and Axtell's shot from the side caused Coach Roark to send Gilliland, Grubb and Krivosh back into the game, but the gun cracked before either side could score again, as the Titans stalled in the closing seconds of play.

Coaches Remain Even Though Teams Not Heavy Winners

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 11.—It isn't necessarily true that a football coach must win a majority of his games to keep his job. Of course, it is true in most cases, and we have grown to accept the idea as a fact. But there are exceptions.

Brown has just given De Orman (Tuss) McLaughry another contract, and certainly Tuss hasn't been winning a lot of games the last few years.

Then there is the case of Hiram College. Hiram hasn't won a game in two years and the coach was about to walk the plank when the students of the school got up a petition that he be retained.

Then there is Hunk Anderson at North Carolina State. It looks as if Hunk would keep his job, although the old grads have tried to have him kicked out. One thing in Anderson's favor is that the Wolfpack has made more money during his reign than it ever made before.

Dick Harlow up to the middle of the present season was a bust at Harvard, but he finished in a blaze of glory and will, of course, continue on and probably give the Crimson a winning team.

Titans To Meet First Big Test

Will Clash With Carnegie Tech At Pittsburgh Tuesday Night

STARS OF FORMER YEARS ARE MISSING

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Jan. 11.—In their first real test of the season, Coach George Roark's Titans basketers journey to Pittsburgh Tuesday night to meet Tech on the Tartan floor.

The Plaid will be without the services of only two of their 1936 stars, Macaika at center and Jagwon at forward; while the Titans will have a terrific chunk taken out of their power-house with the loss of Bennett, Hunneke and Willis. While the Titans during their three games this season have shown considerable punch at times, their scoring attack has not clicked yet in championship fashion. The Titans have considerable scoring power in Krivosh, Gilliland, Grubb and Demo; but lack the almost certain threat of the 15-point Wes Bennett.

The fifth-man problem is troubling Coach Roark this year just as it did Coach John Lawther during the 1935-36 season. Meyer, a clever ball-handler and an aggressive player, has neither the height nor the weight to stand the battering of teams like Tech and Pitt. Roark's other choice, in place of Meyer, would be Miller, freshman guard, rugged and promising but not quite sure enough of himself to adequately fill such a place as was left by Hunneke's departure from the Titan squad.

When the Titans tackle Tech Tuesday night they will be meeting a stronger team than last year's Titans. Saturday's 30 score against Pitt's 35 means anything. Pitt's victory was no easy victory with Tech twice in the lead.

To defeat Tech would put Coach Roark's Titans in the basketball spotlight; to hold the Tartans to even a close score will mean a well-played game for Westminster.

New Castle Hi At Ellwood On Tuesday Night

Section Three Game At Ellwood Floor May Prove Halt To Winning Streak

New Castle High School basketball team leaders of Section Three of the W. P. I. A. L. may have its winning streak busted wide open on Tuesday night at Ellwood City high.

The Bridenbaughmen have won two league games, topping New Brighton and Ambridge, in decisive manner. The Tubers are expected to give the County Seaters more trouble than either of the other two teams played so far.

Friday night at Washington High the fast Alliquippa High team will be here for another league encounter. The "Quips" topped Ellwood City in the opening of the sectional race last Tuesday.

Other games Tuesday night will be as follows: Butler at Ambridge and Beaver Falls at Alliquippa.

KEYSTONE MIDGETS WIN

Keystone A. C. Midgets basketball team topped the St. Michaels Midgets 20 to 8, in a Boy's A league game at the "Y" Saturday. It was announced by Coach Carm Benincase. The star performers were Fornataro and Kelly.

Rule Sleeper Play Out Of Football

CHICAGO, Jan. 11.—The National Interscholastic Federation's Football Rules Committee in which rules will be drafted for the 1937 season, voted abolishment of the old "sleeper" play and took action on the length of shoe cleats which high school players may wear.

Representatives from 16 states voted to rule out the play in which members of the offensive team attempt to "hide" along sidelines in the hope of completing a long forward pass. The committee ruled that no player, in the future, may be prostrate when the ball is snapped.

In a further attempt to decrease injuries the committee voted that cleats may not be longer than 1 1/2 inches. In the past there has been no restriction.

W. A. Witte, of Appleton, Wis., reported that injuries among players during the 1936 season occurred at the rate of 35 per cent per thousand, a slight decrease from the 1935 figures and an appreciable one from the figure of 90 per cent which obtained about five years ago.

Witte said investigation disclosed that most prep injuries occurred soon after the start of the second half, probably because players were too highly keyed up or had not warmed up properly. Members of the committee indicated action would be taken to see that players were in the proper "mood" to protect themselves.

Pass Interference Suggestion Made

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Jan. 11.—Football circles in the east were today discussing what William S. Langford, secretary of the football rules committee, described as an unofficial gathering at Runson, N. J., as the only "concrete and constructive suggestion" to settle the problem of forward pass interference.

Of many suggestions made, Langford said that most were "foolish." "The best," he declared, "is that we limit the distance of the fade-back by the passer to ten yards behind the scrimmage line. Since the passer must now be at least five yards behind the scrimmage line that will give him five yards in which to fade. That means he will have to get off the pass quicker. This will eliminate most of the interference, which usually occurs on long passes."

Industrial Floor League Starts At Shelby Club

Frisco Trims Mathews 39-17 In Opener At Shelby Auditorium Saturday Night

MECHANICALS NOSE OUT COLD DRAW

ELLWOOD CITY, Jan. 11.—An auspicious start was made by the Ellwood City Industrial basketball league Saturday night at the Shelby auditorium. After a delay the league finally swung into action with games before a capacity audience.

In the opener the Frisco A. C. trimmed by Mathews quintet by a score of 39-17. It was a nip and tuck affair in the first half. Frisco led 7-4 in the first quarter and 15-13 at halftime. The defense of the Mathews seemed to collapse in the second half as the victors jumped to a commanding 31-17 lead in the third quarter. The losers were held scoreless in the final period as Frisco registered eight more points to make the final score 39-17. Boone, Cowan and Hughes were the big guns in the Frisco attack. Mohr and L. Nelson were the best for the Mathews.

The second game was thrilling and close throughout as the Mechanicals held on to a slight lead and nosed out the Cold Draw 33-30. The Mechanicals pulled out to a 9-7 edge in the initial period and were then never headed. They led 18-12 at the half and 27-22 in the third quarter. The final stanza was hard fought and the Cold Draw threatened to overtake their opponents. They were able to tie the score once but were beat out in the last minute of play. Alex Robuck had a field day for the winners caging eight field goals and two free throws, for a total of 18 points. He was hard pressed for scoring honors by Syl Perucci of the Cold Draw, who counted up seven field goals and two fouls for a total of 16 points.

There will be two more league games on the Shelby floor this week.

NEW YORK, Jan. 11.—Coppers led the stock market irregularly higher today, Anaconda, Cerro de Pasco, Inspiration, Kennecott and Miami all reaching new 1936-37 peaks on gains that ranged to more than two points.

South Porto Rico Sugar and American Sugar Refining were up a point each and Cuban-American up fractionally.

Motors and steels were generally lower, Barnsdall hit a new high, as did Texas Pacific Coal & Oil on a point gain. Rails, utilities, aviation and rubbers made moderate progress. Bonds were irregular, grains and cotton lower.

Faces Deportation

Maudie Robinson, once-famous beauty whose connection with an Iranian Rajah in a blackmail case shook the British Empire a decade ago, is shown as she was released from Ellis Island to confer with her husband in Jersey City. She faces deportation for overstaying her visitor's permit.

To Hollywood Via Magazine Pages, Billboards

Magazine pages and billboards apparently constitute a new "try-out" route to Hollywood. For there are many filmstars of today and yesterday who have posed as models for magazines and billboards and have found themselves being offered contracts to appear in the movies. Among the latest are the four shown above. Catherine Barrett, a Louisville girl, who went to New York to do some modeling, has adorned many magazine covers. Janice Jarrett is perhaps the best example of the "act" girl who has gone into pictures. She is from Texas and has posed for "everything" from light bulbs to toothpaste. Among the men models, Robert Kent, newest of the male stars in the movies, was in demand by illustrators.

A Glimpse of New York's Poultry Show

Despite the fact that they're not nearly as graceful out of the water as in it, these swans attracted a great deal of attention at annual poultry show in New York City, where 5,000 fowl of all varieties were on display.

Hole-in-One, But He Was Off the Course

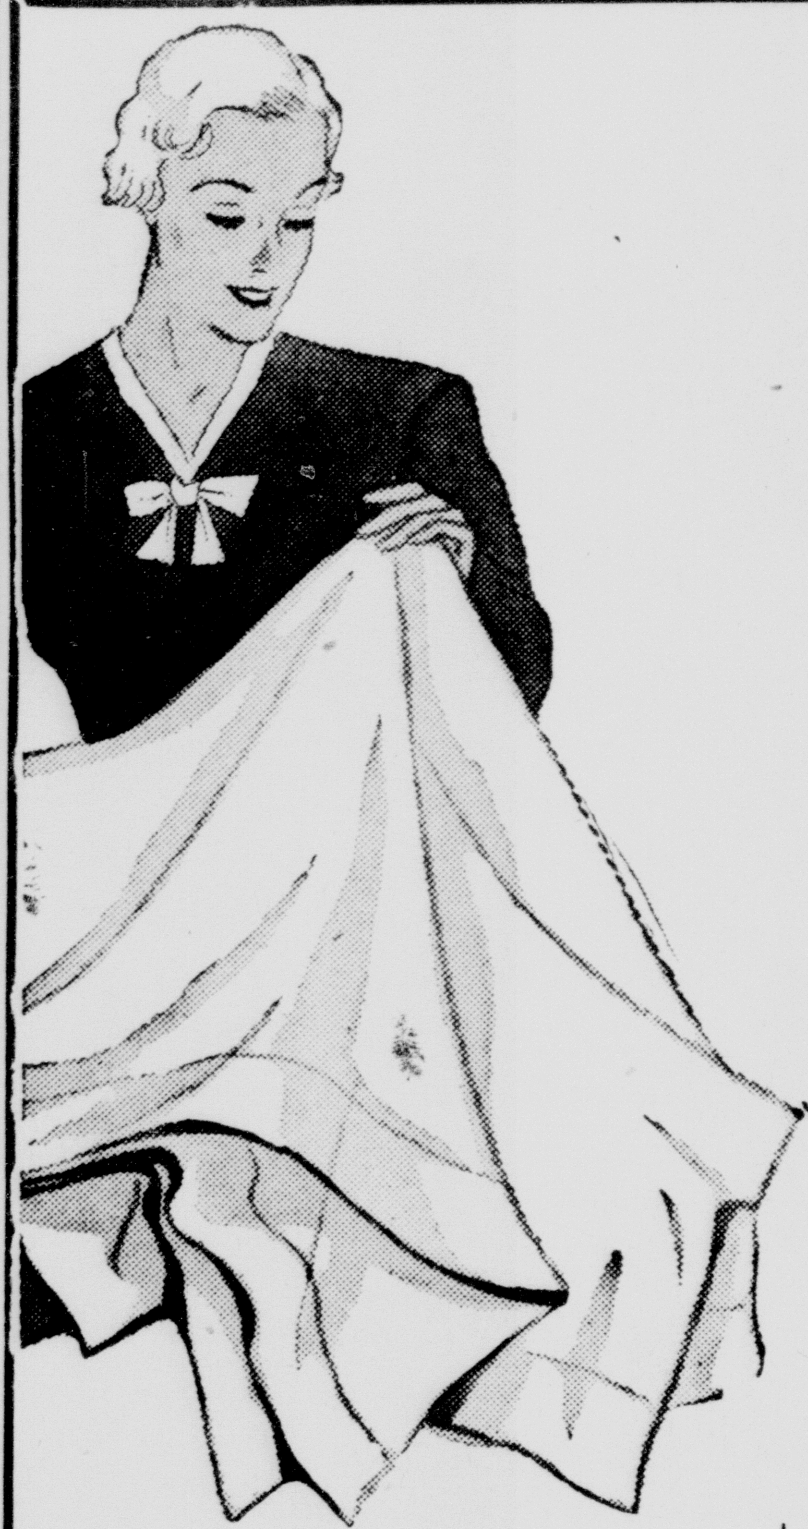

Horace Plummer, Negro of Huntington, L. I., woke with a start to find his car had smashed through the brick wall of an estate at Westbury, L. I. Plummer and his companion, Herbert Payne, escaped injury but the wall was wrecked as shown above.
